INSTRUCTIONS:

1. Cut (4) Peaceful Pine Cardstock layers to measure 4-1/8" X 4-1/8". Score at 1-3/8" & 2-3/4" vertically & horizontally
 - a. Use Paper Snips to cut off each corner, leaving a 1/2" tab on each side of 2 squares as shown.
 - b. Cut the ends of each small tab at an angle.
 - c. Add Tear & Tape to each small tab and assemble 4 small boxes.

2. Once all 4 boxes have been assembled, add Alpine Winter Designer Paper squares to each side measuring 1-1/8" X 1-1/8"

3. Cut 2 Peaceful Pine Cardstock layers to measure 8-1/4" x 1-1/2".
- Score both pieces at 2-7/8" & 5-3/4".
 - Add Tear & Tape to one long side of one layer and glue the 2nd piece on top of the first piece, matching up the long sides.

4. Add Tear & Tape to the bottom of each box and start gluing the boxes on the long end first, even to the score line of each section. On my photo, you can see where I started on the long, scored end first at the bottom left on the photo. The scored lines are even at the right of each box as you glue them in place:

5. Roll up the boxes to make sure the spacing is correct and you end up with an overall square box shape:

6. Flip the box over to the underside.
- Add a piece of Tear & Tape along the 4 sections except for the last 5th short section that has a box glued to it.
 - Press a 25" length of ribbon over the tape, leaving enough on each end to tie a bow later.

7. Roll up the boxes and tie ribbon into a box on the top corner.
8. Decorate the front as follows by gluing to one box only. I glued my layers to the top box on the right:
 - a. Early Espresso Cardstock cut with the snowshoe die glued with Stampin' Dimensionals.
 - b. Basic White Cardstock for the stamped branch in Peaceful Pine Ink and colored with Stampin' Blends. Glue flat.
 - c. Berry Burst Cardstock stamped with the bow image in Berry Burst Ink. Glue with Stampin' Dimensionals
 - d. Add an Adhesive Backed Snowflake on top of the bow!
